Father Baker Silver Jubilarian

The Rev. Christian L. Baker, S. V. D., professor of Dogmatic Theology at St. Augustine's Seminary, Bay St. Louis, will celebrate his silver Sacerdotal Jubilee on Monday, May 14, at the Seminary.

The celebration will open with a Solemn High Mass at 10:00 a. m. celebrated by Father Baker in the Seminary chapel. The Most Reverend Richard O. Gerow, S. T. D., Bishop of Natchez, will preside at the throne. Visiting clergy, local friends, and the members of St. Augustine's will be in attendance. At 11:30 a. m. there will be a jubilee banquet in the Seminary refectory for the clergy. In the evening, Father Baker will receive in the Seminary parlors from 8:00 to 10:00 p. m. The public is cordially invited to this civic reception.

Father Baker was ordained a priest twenty-five years ago at St. Mary's Mission Seminary, Techy, Illinois. Shortly afterward, he received his appointment to devote his life to education of youths for the priesthood in the Society of the Divine Word. His entire priestly life has been spent at St. Augustine's Seminary, here on the Gulf Coast.

The study of natural science is an avocation of Father Baker. He is head of the science department at the Seminary. In this field, his principal interest is the culture of camellias and azaleas. In season, the Seminary campus abounds in camellias and azaleas bloom, due to the work and interest of Father Baker and his first assistant, Brother Peter, S. V. D. In recent years, painting has claimed his interest. He has shown a number of his paintings in local exhibits as well as in exhibits in New Orleans. During the civic reception on Monday afternoon, his paintings will be on display in the Seminary parlors.

The Society of the Divine Word extends to all a cordial welcome to be celebrated by Father Baker, as well as the civic reception.

Get Your Polio Shot

Your Health Department has sufficient polio vaccine to administer the booster or third shot to all school and pre-school children who are now ready to receive the third shot. This means all children who have had two shots more than six months ago.

It is desirable that we continue our program of vaccinating those children who have had no shots within minutes of the call to the fire department.

In olden melodramas the plea was "Firemen save my child."

Wednesday when the call came from the Quintini home, it could have been, "Daddy come save our house. Mr. Quintini is connected with the fire department, but at the time of the emergency was off duty.

The boys were trained by State Highway Patrolmen, Fred Curet and Wm. Kenney and Bay High Coach Lance Lumpkin.

Bay High May Festival

Gracious Evelyn Ladner ruled over the annual May Ball of Bay High School last Friday evening, with Gerald Tomash as her royal consort.

Set around the traditional flow-decked May Pole, the court was one of summer fragrance, with many beauteous maidens and their dukes following the royal couple in the grand march around the gymnasium floor, where the ball was staged.

The May Poll dance was executed by girls from Webb School. Entertainment of the court was provided by pupils from Mrs. Dorothy Russell's dancing school.

The dainty queen was elaborately gowned in a creation of white nylon tulle and lace over pink satin, giving a blush glow to the gown.

The bodice of the gown was made of lace with heart shaped scallops forming the off-shoulder neckline, each scallop embroidered in seed pearls.

The full three tiered skirt of nylon tulle was topped by an overskirt of pink satin covered with lace, scalloped at the bottom and sloped longer in the back, with tiny satin roses at each scallop point.

The queen wore a crown of pink and white rose buds and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Her mantle was of pink satin covered with tulle, and appliques of lace and roses edged with tulle ruffles.

Miss Eleanor Buffin, Maid of Honor to her majesty, selected a gown of melon colored ruffle, tulle over taffeta. The color was enhanced by a shower bouquet of gray carnations, which she carried, and a wreath of white rose buds entwined in her hair. Gold glitter on the tulle brought highlights to the extremely bouffant dress, which was made with a tightly fitted bodice.

Maids in the court were startlingly lovely as they emerged gowned in all of the myriad spring colors which nature flaunts with reckless abandon. They all carried bouquets of contrasting colored flowers.

Children in the May Poll dance wore short length party frocks in pastel colors and dainty wristlets of flowers.

In addition to the dancing entertainment, members of the Choral Group of the school, accompanied by Mrs. Carl Smith at the piano, gave several song selections. They were also dressed in summer florals adding to the beauty of the picture.

BAND CONCERT DRAWS
LARGE ATTENDANCE

The first concert staged by Brother Romuald and his return to the school last fall as music director, was held Monday evening in the gym of St. Joseph's Academy.

For many years these concerts, an annual feature of Brother Romuald and St. Stanislaus band, were eagerly looked forward to by the community, and Monday night's presentation was no exception, as the large auditorium was filled to capacity by music lovers.

The concert came up to all expectations. Selections were interesting and well-executed by the musicians. Brother Romuald, a master showman, diverted the program with small bits of interspersed comedy, which lightened the evening. His superior direction was evidenced by the poise and assurance of the boys comprising the band.

St. Joseph May Festival

"Sweethearts" was the theme of the annual May Ball, held Saturday night in the gymnasium of St. Joseph's Academy.

Subdued lights in myriad colors softened the beautiful garden effect of the stage, which was a veritable bouquet of pastel flowers. A huge heart outlined with thousands of pink rose buds formed a frame through which the maidens with their petite attendants stepped onto the stage, and then descended the floor to be met by their dukes.

All of the girls participating were gowned in charming floor-length formal frocks made of gossamer summer fabrics, which literally seemed to float as the wearers paraded around the floor. Each little maid was gowned in a miniature replica of the dress worn by the girl whom she was attending and each carried similar bouquets of pastel colored flowers.

Flower Girls—Rhonda Ann Roland, Fahey Ann di Benedetto, Patricia Greene, Linda Koch, Laura Ann Piazza, Cheryl Ann Ladner, Sue Thomas, Michael Reinke and Beth Colson.

Garland Bearers—Mimi Monti, Peggy Hoggins, Ann Devall, Charlene Ann Benigno, Elizabeth Ann Morlan, Mary Ann Becker, Elaine Shaw, Jean Rutherford, Mary Elizabeth Lagarde, Jeanne Green, Lillian Travirca, Julie Delph, Peggy Bermond, Lynn Peyrefitte, Donco and Song "Sweetheart" Diana Taylor, Louise Buffin, Anita Giani, Betty Powell, Laurie Kiefer, Sandra Seuzenau, Beth Murtagh, Patty Babin, Susan Deval, Linda Dumser, Frances Frey, Mary Dudley Roger, Virginia Benigno, Mary Ann Rauch, Dennis Seuzenau, Barbara Noto, Judy Favre, Cheryl Ducomb, Ruby Bowen, Alice Bandert, Jackie Samms, Ethel Chapman, Elizabeth Krieger, Martha Homes.

Why They Go

BY BARBARA AND BOBBY, like-minded thousands of America's teenagers, are going steady. They spend a good part of each day together. They visit freely back and forth. They are affectionate and openly so. We can see them holding hands in class, on the street, in church.

Why do youngsters like Barbara and Bobby to stay? Usually we are given this answer: "they need a form of guaranteed dating." For girls it solves the problem of whether they will be invited out, for boys it saves expense.

THE REAL REASON however, why the Barbars and Bobby all over America are going steady is that family life has broken down. The breakneck competition to match the neighbor's car and scale of living, the tapering off of true religion—these have weakened family ties. Our homes are little more than motels.

Youngsters, like all growing things, need place to strike roots. They need the fierce loyalty, the fun and discipline, the confidences and togetherness of close-knit family life. When this is denied, the girl or boy looks for a substitute. He or she must be a "steady," with a ring, or pin, or class sweater. WE PARENTS must open our

What Makes A Mother?

Richard J. Cushing, Archibishop of Boston
"A woman can deceive herself into thinking she is seeking her family's happiness, when actually she is seeking her own desires and pleasures. But needless to say, such a woman is not a Christian mother."

THE CHRISTIAN mother is a woman churning over with love. To this, she must have learned to find her own happiness in the happiness of others.

Such selflessness as this is never easy to come by. It is a quality gained only over a long period of voluntary self-sacrifice.

AND HERE is where there is something special about the Christian mother. She learns how to love from an imitation of Christ, her master. She sees in Him the example of someone sacrificing everything for others—because He loved them.

The Christian mother must truly be a Christian then—a devoted follower and imitator of Jesus Christ, who so loved men that He gave up His life for them, that they might be cleansed from sin and have happiness forever. It is in such an imitation that she learns love—with which she becomes a misfit instead of a model in the home.

WE CAN thank God that such mothers exist—and not just in our imaginations. We see them often, kneeling in our churches, praying for the grace to be true mothers. This Mother's Day we can get down on our knees with them, thanking God for giving us so many truly Christian mothers, asking Him to give us many, many more.

HIGHWAY LEGISLATION

Last year in response to the great demand for highway legislation, the Senate passed a multi-billion dollar bill authorizing the construction of a network of highways throughout the country, but failed to provide for any method of financing it. Subsequently the House Public Works Committee in the last days of the session reported a bill both authorizing the construction of a similar system of highways and providing for the financing of the program. However, when the bill reached the floor there was so much disagreement on the various phases of the raising the revenue that the House sent the bill back to the Committee.

At the beginning of this session, it was recognized that the revenue raising was the principle obstacle. Therefore, it was agreed that the Public Works Committee would work out the intricate system of highways and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House would work out a title providing the revenues. This was a wise decision since the Committee on Ways and Means is better-staffed and better-qualified to legislate on revenue matters. The result was a combined bill providing for the highways and the revenue necessary to finance it.

Everyone in this automobile age recognizes the necessity for an adequate and up-to-date highway system for a Nation which in this day moves on wheels. The problem faced was that everyone favored such a system, but apparently no one wanted to pay for it. President Eisenhower first recommended last year that the so-called Clay Report be adopted and the program be financed by bond issue. We thought then and think now that that was a mistake. And while we agree that the taxes authorized under this bill are burdensome, we are of the opinion, as we told the House, that this new program should be paid for by the users of the highways as they use them rather than to pass another 36 and one-half billion dollar-interest bearing debt on to the future generations. Again, while there were phases of the bill of which we did not approve, it was simply a question of taking what was offered us or having no highway program.

The bill passed the House by a vote of 388 to 19 and now goes to the Senate. The following is a brief breakdown of the House bill.

1. Authorization—
Total amount authorized, $364 billion.
- Federal aid highways, $112 billion, 45 percent of which will be spent on Federal-aid primary highways, 30 percent on Federal-aid secondary highways, 25 percent on extensions of these into urban areas. The states would match these funds dollar for dollar.
- Interstate system, $25 billion, 40,000 miles in this super-high-

FARM LEGISLATION

The most momentous issue before the Congress now, farm legislation, remains unsettled. Since President Eisenhower vetoed the Farm Bill and the House sustained him, a number of proposals have been made and a number of bills have been introduced, in an effort to enact some urgently needed farm legislation.

Bay High May Festival

Gracious Evelyn Ladner, ruled over the annual May Ball of Bay High School last Friday evening, with Gerald Tomaszich as her royal consort.

Set around the traditional flow-decked May Pole, the court was one of summery fragrance, with many beauteous maidens and their dukes following the royal couple in the grand march around the gymnasium floor, where the ball was staged.

The May Poll dance was executed by girls from Webb School.

Entertainment of the court was provided by pupils from Mrs. Dorothy Russell's dancing school.

The dainty queen was elaborately gowned in a creation of white nylon tulle and lace over pink satin, giving a blush glow to the gown. The bodice of the gown was made of lace with heart-shaped scallops forming the off-shoulder neckline, each scallop embroidered in seed pearls.

The full three tiered skirt of nylon tulle was topped by an overskirt of pink satin covered with lace, scalloped at the bottom and sloped longer in the back, with tiny satin roses at each scallop point.

The queen wore a crown of pink and white rose buds and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Her mantle was of pink satin covered with tulle, and appliques of lace and roses edged with tulle ruffles.

Miss Eleanor Bufkin, Maid of Honor to her majesty, selected a gown of melon colored ruffle, tulle over taffeta. The color was enhanced by a shower bouquet of carnations, which she carried, and a wreath of white rose buds entwined in her hair. Gold glitter on the tulle brought highlights to the extremely bouffant dress, which was made with a tightly fitted bodice.

Maids in the court were startlingly lovely as they emerged gowned in all of the myriad spring colors which nature flaunts with reckless abandon. They all carried bouquets of contrasting colored flowers.

Children in the May Poll dance wore short length party frocks in pastel colors and dainty wristlets of flowers.

In addition to the dancing entertainment, members of the Choral Group of the school, accompanied by Mrs. Carl Smith at the piano, gave several song selections. They were also dressed in summer florals, adding to the beauty of the picture.

BAND CONCERT DRAWS
LARGE ATTENDANCE

The first concert staged by Brother Romuald and his boys from St. Stanislaus, since his return to the school last fall as music director, was held Monday evening in the gym of St. Stanislaus' Academy.

For many years these concerts, an annual feature of Brother Romuald and St. Stanislaus band, were eagerly looked forward to by the community, and Monday night's presentation was no exception, as the large auditorium was filled to capacity by music lovers.

The concert came up to all expectations. Selections were interesting and well-executed by the musicians. Brother Romuald, a master showman, diverted the program with small bits of interspersed comedy, which lightened the evening. His superior direction was evidenced by the poise and assurance of the boys comprising the band.

Charles M. Corbin Died Monday Afternoon

Charles M. Corbin, brother of Mrs. T. T. Robin, died Monday afternoon in a hospital in Thibodaux, La., after a prolonged illness.

Mr. Corbin was president of John C. Corbin Inc., general contractors. A native of Jeanerette, La., he had made his home for the past ten years near Shreveport, La.

At the time of his death, Mr. Corbin was 44 years of age. In addition to his sister, Mrs. Robin of Bay St. Louis, he is survived by his widow, the former Evelyn Carniouche Huddleston, four daughters, Ann, Charlene, Celeste, and Lynn Corbin; a son, John C. Corbin II; two step-daughters, Jeanette and Barbara Huddleston; a stepson, Pete Huddleston; and two brothers, Edward C. Corbin of Hotma, La., and Carl Corbin of New Orleans, La.

Funeral services were held from Landry's Funeral Home, Thibodaux, La., Tuesday, May 8, followed by religious services at the Methodist Church, Jeanerette, La., via horse carriage, interment in Methodist Cemetery, Jeanerette.

ARMED SERVICES DAY - 1956

"Sweethearts" was the theme of the annual May Ball, held Saturday night in the gymnasium of St. Joseph's Academy.

Subdued lights in myriad colors softened the beautiful garden effect of the stage, which was a vegetable bouquet of pastel flowers. A huge heart outlined with thousands of pink rose buds formed a frame through which the maidens with their petite attendants stepped onto the stage, and then descended the floor to be met by their dukes.

All of the girls participating were gowned in charming floor-length formal frocks made of gossamer summer fabrics, which seemed to float as the wearers paraded around the floor.

Each little maid was gowned in a miniature replica of the dress worn by the girl whom she was attending and each carried small bouquets of pastel colored flowers.

Flower girls, little ones from the grade school, carried baskets of spring flowers, and preceded the queen, as she made her entrance into the ball room.

Miss Janelle Mitchell, senior student, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Mitchell was the gracious May Queen. She was as charming as the court over whom she began sway, and greeted her loyal subjects with a dazzling smile, and gracious acknowledgements of their applause.

Gowned in a lovely white nylon tulle frock, over white taffeta, she carried a sceptre of white cymbidium orchids. A graceful coronet of brilliants encircled her head, and her train was of transparent plastic covered with white tulle and designed with silver sequins. The gown was fashioned of tightly fitted bodice, with graduated tiered flounces of tulle forming the bouffant skirt. The entire dress was embroidered in rhinestones in a dainty design.

Miss Eleanor Krieger, maid of honor to her majesty, was also gowned in white nylon tulle. The fitted bodice was of lace and lace inserts were appliqued onto the skirt and reembroidered in seed pearls and brilliants. She wore a necklace and tiny coro net of brilliants, and carried a bouquet of talisman roses.

Little attendants to both the queen and maid of honor were gowned in miniature frocks matching those of the older girls.

Court entertainment was provided by a group of girls from the grammar school. They wore lines in pastel colors, and car-

Why They Go

By ROSE HEDD TWIST, Staff Writer, BARTBARA AND BOBBY, like thousands of America's teenagers, are going steady. They spend a good part of each day together. They visit freely back and forth. They are affectionate and openly so. "We can see them holding hands in class, on the street, in church.

Why do youngsters like Barbara and Bobby go steady? Usually we are given this answer: they need a form of status, a kind of affection.

For girls it solves the problem of whether they will be invited out; for boys it saves expense.

THE REAL REASON however, why the Barbars and Bobbys all over America are going steady is that family life has broken down. The breakdown competition to match the neighbor's car and scale of living, the tapering off of true religion, these have weakened family ties. Our homes are little more than motels.

Youngsters, like all growing things, need a place to strike roots. They need the fierce loyalty, the fun and discipline, the confidences and togetherness of close-knit family life.

When this is denied, the girl or boy looks for a substitute. He or she must be a "steady," with a ring, or pin, or class sweater.

WE PARENTS must open our lines of communication to our children, to let them know that we are interested in them, that we care for them, that we are there for them.

How can we do this? By being a good parent, by being a good example, by being a good listener, by being a good friend, by being a good teacher.

TRUE mother love is to love, to care, to be there for the child, to be a good example, to be a good teacher, to be a good friend, to be a good listener, to be a good parent.

What Makes A Mother?

Richard J. Cushing, Archibishop of Boston
MAKES a mother? A woman can deceive herself into thinking she is seeking her family's happiness, when actually she is seeking her own desires and pleasures. But needless to say, such a woman is not a Christian mother.

THE CHRISTIAN mother is a woman brimming over with love. To do this, she must have learned to find her own happiness in the happiness of others.

Such selflessness as this is never easy to come by. It is a quality gained only over a long period of voluntary self-sacrifice.

AND HERE is something special about the Christian mother. She learns how to love from an imitation of Christ, her master. She sees in Him the example of someone sacrificing everything for others—because He loved them.

The Christian mother must truly be a Christian then—a devoted follower and imitator of Jesus Christ, who so loved men that He gave up His life for them, that they might be cleansed from sin and have happiness forever. It is in such an imitation that she learns love—without which she becomes a misfit instead of a model in the home.

WE CAN thank God that such mothers exist—and not just in our imaginations. We see them often, kneeling in our churches, praying for the grace to be true mothers. This Mother's Day we can get down on our knees with them, thanking God for giving us so many truly Christian mothers, asking Him to give us many, many more.

HIGHWAY LEGISLATION

Last year in response to the great demand for highway legislation, the Senate passed a multi-billion dollar bill authorizing the construction of a network of highways throughout the country, but failed to provide for any method of financing it. Subsequently the House Public Works Committee in the last days of the session reported a bill both authorizing the construction of a similar system of highways and providing for the financing of the program. However, when the bill reached the floor there was so much disagreement on the various phases of the raising the revenue that the House sent the bill back to the Committee.

At the beginning of this session, it was recognized that the revenue raising was the principle obstacle. Therefore, it was agreed that the Public Works Committee would work out the intricate system of highways and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House would work out a title providing the revenues. This was a wise decision since the Committee on Ways and Means is better-staffed and better-qualified to legislate on revenue matters. The result was a combined bill providing for the highways and the revenue necessary to finance it.

Everyone in this automobile age recognizes the necessity for an adequate and up-to-date highway system for a Nation which in this day moves on wheels. The problem faced was that everyone favored such a system, but apparently no one wanted to pay for it. President Eisenhower first recommended last year that the so-called Clay Report be adopted and the program be financed by bond issue. We thought then and think now that that was a mistake. And while we agree that the taxes authorized under this bill are burdensome, we are of the opinion, as we told the House, that this new program should be paid for by the users of the highways as they use them rather than to pass another 36 and one-half billion dollar interest bearing debt on to the future generations. Again, while there were phases of the bill of which we did not approve, it was simply a question of taking what was offered or having no highway program.

The bill passed the House by a vote of 388 to 19 and now goes to the Senate. The following is a brief breakdown of the House bill:

1. Authorization—

Total amount authorized, $36 1/2 billion.

Federal aid highways, $11 1/2 billion. 45 percent of which will be spent on Federal-aid primary highways. 30 percent on Federal-aid secondary highways. 25 percent on extensions of these into urban areas. The states would match these funds dollar for dollar.

Interstate system, $25 billion. 40,000 miles in this super-high-

PIPELINES

Tax Law

Counties

Miss. (Special) — One of the state's largest taxpayers is the oil and gas industry. The assessment of the oil and gas industry, which operates pipe lines transporting natural gas, crude oil and refined products. This fact was borne out by a survey just completed by the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, Mississippi-Alabama Division. An organization representing about 95 per cent of the firms and individuals making up the various segments of Mississippi's oil and gas industry.

The study shows that Mississippi pipelines, and property and equipment connected with their operations, were assessed in 1955 for ad valorem purposes at a value of more than $101 million. This total assessed valuation exceeds that of all railroad mileage or all electric utility installations in the state.

The pipe lines provide a market for Mississippi-produced crude oil, transport the products of her oil and gas processing plants and supply with natural gas service homes and businesses in more than 200 cities as well as many industrial plants.

E. D. (Doug) Kenna, Jackson executive vice president and head of the oil and gas industry association, noted that "even when industrial development is the subject of conversation, busy Mississippians seldom think to include in the picture the silent, buried transportation system which is performing a vital function 24 hours a day."

"Even those who are aware of the pipe line presence do not realize what a tremendous investment they represent, and what an important share of the tax load they are carrying throughout the state," the industry spokesman declares.

The statewide scope of the pipe line's importance is evident in the fact that in the survey of assessed valuations just completed by the oil and gas industry group only one of Mississippi's 82 counties had no recorded assessment against pipe line companies.

Many counties in which drillers have not yet been successful in establishing commercial production of oil or gas were among those having the greatest amount of pipe line mileage and equipment and a correspondingly large assessed valuation.

There follows a listing of Mississippi's counties and the total 1955 assessed valuation, for ad valorem tax purposes, of pipe line operators' equipment, installations and property in each county.

WANDERINGS

by

GEORGETTE B. HALL

Congratulations to the members of the Waveland Baptist Church. They have laid a foundation for an addition to their church. A tall steeple has been added to the present building making it have an appearance more like a place of worship. The Rev. Adrian Rogers is the present minister.

Don't forget the date! Wednesday, May 16, is the Waveland School's annual May Festival. You are invited to attend. This year always, the festival promises to be one of color and entertainment with students from the various grades participating. Lynne Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall, and Terrell Bourgeois, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bourgeois, have been chosen to reign as king and queen.

It's good to see Mr. Ruppel back on the job! He underwent two operations and has had to make it easy while recuperating. His many friends wish him a good summer and good health again.

Mrs. Lucille Humphries of Monroe, Louisiana, is enjoying a visit with her sister, Mrs. Maybell Smith.

On May 4, 1956, in the Waveland Methodist Church the quarterly conference was held. District Superintendent Ridgeway was in charge. The Bay St. Louis Church and Waveland made reports and officers were elected. Ice cream and cake made by Mrs. Ruth Ketchum was enjoyed. About thirty attended the meeting. Mrs. Ridgeway was also present. The Rev. A. M. Ellison was the acting minister for both churches.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Morris Bacarelli and the bridegroom chose as his best man his brother, Morris Bacarelli.

Following the church ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

White flowers decorated the reception rooms of the home, and the bride's table was tastefully appointed with a lace and linen cloth, centered with a large tiered wedding cake, surrounded with white blooms.

The young couple motored to the Gulf Coast for a wedding trip and will make their home upon their return in New Orleans.

The bride is a sister of Mrs. Joseph Loiacono, Mrs. W. W. Taylor and Mr. William C. Osborn of Bay St. Louis.

NEW U-1 FILM DRAMA HAS IMPRESSIVE CAST

Barbara Stanwyck, Fred MacMurray and Joan Bennett are the top members of the impressive cast brought together in Universal International's poignant drama, "There's Always Tomorrow," which opens next Sunday at the Drive-In Theatre. Featured with these stars are Pat Crowley, William Reynolds and Gigi Perreau.

"There's Always Tomorrow" is the moving, human story of a married man who tries to rekindle an early love affair because he believes his wife has lost interest in him.

Featured also in the film, which was directed by Douglas Sirk for producer Ross Hunter, are Race Gentry, Myrna Hansen, Judy Nugent and Jane Darley.

Doctor May said that eye injuries cost more than 20 million dollars a year and at least 90 per cent of them could be prevented by safety goggles and similar well established safety measures. He said eye accidents in American industry occur at the rate of two a minute throughout the working day.

Requirements for safe vision on the job, according to Doctor May, are,

Near acuity - ability to focus and see well with both eyes and each eye separately at a distance of about 15 inches.

Distant acuity - the same as above for a distance of 20 feet or more.

Adequate field of vision - ability to see to both sides and up and down while focusing on a small target.

Depth perception - ability to judge space relationships.

Binocular co-ordination - ability to make the two eyes work well together.

Color discrimination - ability to detect differences in colors.

One of the most common mistakes in occupational vision, according to Dr. May, is to assume that glasses for reading are also suited to your job when a different correction may be needed.

The picture was produced and directed in Spain by Robert Rossen from his own screen play and was more than three years in the making. Other distinguished members of the cast of "Alexander The Great" include Barry Jones, Harry Andrews, Stanley Baker and Niall MacGinnis.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall motored to New Orleans on Saturday where they enjoyed dinner and a show.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Jordy of Bay St. Louis left Monday for Thibodaux, Louisiana, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Robin's brother, Charles Corbin. Mr. Corbin has been in a hospital due to a heart attack. Mrs. Robin had visited him several times recently. Mr. Corbin was 44 years of age and is survived by his wife and eight children. He was buried Tuesday in Jeanerette. Louisiana. Sympathy is extended to the family and relatives.

Mr. Graham Jordy of Bay St. Louis, while on vacation in Florida, suffered a heart attack and had to be hospitalized. His many friends in Waveland and Bay St. Louis are wishing him a speedy recovery.
